Cinnamon Mabel Dalton always struggled to fit in. A musical savant at an early age, Cinn's life was anything but easy. After a failed marriage and broken heart, she worried she would never find someone who understood her devotion to her craft, and her family. Then her Grandma Mable passed away, she inherited a two-hundred-pound Saint Bernard, and her whole life changed. Dr. Foster Kern, the director of the Little Ivywood Humane Society, spent hours with Mable Dalton being regaled with stories about her granddaughter, Cinn. Suddenly face-to-face with the woman he had heard so much about, he realized Mabel didn't do her justice. Cinn's exotic looks and giant heart were exactly what he'd been searching for, but he truly believed a woman like Cinn would never be interested in a guy like him. Cinn and Foster team up to protect her grandmother's legacy, but neither of them could predict how quickly they would discover a mutual happiness they'd both been searching for. When fate unwittingly reveals Cinn's hidden truth, she has two choices; trust her heart to Foster or run away from a lifetime of love.

This is a companion novel to the Swanson Court Series. Told from Landon's perspective, it should be read after the first three books of the Swanson Court Series. Landon Court is a man who knows how to focus on the important things, namely, his billion-dollar hotels, and his brother — the only family he has left. His relationships with women are temporary and superficial, and he's fine with that. Then Rachel Foster walks into his apartment. He thinks he knows who she is and why she's there, and after one passionate night, he wants to see her again. But she's not the person he assumed she was, and she wants nothing to do with him. Landon does not enjoy being lied to, and he's used to getting what he wants. As far as he's concerned, Rachel will not be an exception.

My husband has been keeping secrets for a long time. He thinks I don't know what he does outside of this house. But I know everything... Karla watches silently as Jason hurriedly packs his belongings into a suitcase. She knows that her stillness is unnerving him as she watches his every move from the doorway of their bedroom. Clothes are screwed up and packed into the case, along with a watch she bought him for his last birthday and his precious laptop. He takes everything from his bedside table. Everything except the framed wedding photo, which now stands alone. Karla strains to see the smiling faces in the photo. If only she knew then what she knows now. 'I've fallen in love with someone else,' he'd said to her, just moments earlier. The brutality of those words hit Karla hard and she struggled to breathe as she took in each word in turn. You may think you know what Karla will do next. But you'll be wrong. Because Karla isn't who you think she is. Only she knows what's about to happen. And you will never see it coming.
